Protect Your Personal Data with California's New Privacy Tool

Our Congressman Brad Sherman recently made me aware of this new tool to protect your privacy.

California has launched the Delete Request and Opt-Out Platform (DROP) that allows you to request the deletion of your personal information from data brokers with a single request by filling out DROP's digital form.

This statewide initiative led by the California Privacy Protection Agency will go into effect on August 1, 2026.

To access the platform, request deletion of your personal information, or to learn more, visit: privacy.ca.gov

As a California resident, you have the ability to prohibit your data from being sold and displayed under the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA), and all businesses subject to the law must honor your privacy choices.

Tip of the Month:

There has been a lot of coyotes in the neighborhood recently as well as skunks and raccoons. Please be mindful and careful with your pets!
